

Participant Information Sheet

We would like to invite you to take part in this survey that aims to understand how people judge and prefer between sets of AI-generated images. It is being carried out as part of an academic research project by Imperial College London. Your responses and input will help them understand different AI systems influence the diversity and quality of generated images.

By taking part, you agree to the following:

- You agree that the responses will be used as part of a research study
- You agree that taking part in this survey is completely voluntary
- If you decide to take part, you are free to withdraw at any time by closing this window; simply click the 'X' in the browser window.
- You agree that Imperial College London will have access to anonymised survey responses. It will not be possible to identify you from the data collected and the data will be published in peer-review medical journals.
- If you are harmed by taking part in this research, there are no special compensation arrangements. If you are harmed due to someone's negligence, then you may have grounds for a legal action. Regardless of this, if you wish to complain or have any concerns about any aspect of the way you have been treated during the course of this study then you should immediately inform a member of the research team by emailing hnj21@imperial.ac.uk. If you are still not satisfied with the response, you can contact the Imperial College Research Governance Integrity Team.
- All research data will be securely stored in line with Imperial College policies and the GDPR Data Protection Act 2018.
- This study has been reviewed and given ethical approval by Imperial College London Research Governance and Integrity Team.
- Further information can be obtained by emailing hnj21@imperial.ac.uk. If you are happy to proceed, please continue to the survey.
